NOW BOARDING

- S Minkah Fitzpatrick registered a career-high 16 tackles vs. CHI (10/4) to go along with his 22nd career interception and his first as a Jet. He's just the sixth player this season to record 15+ tackles in a single game, and the first safety to do so.
- 10 of Fitzpatrick's 16 tackles were recorded in the first half, along with his interception, becoming just the third safety this century, and the first since 2017 (Landon Collins) to register 10+ tackles and an interception in the same half. Fitzpatrick is the first Jet to accomplish both in the same half as far back as 1991 (Stats Perform).
- EDGE David Bailey registered three pressures vs. CHI, bringing his season pressure rate to 18.9%, the ninth-highest mark among the 99 players with 75+ pass rush snaps (Tru Media).
- Bailey's 18.9% pressure rate is tied with Will Anderson Jr. (HST) for the fifth-highest by a player in their first four career games since 2016 (min. 75 pass rush snaps; Tru Media).
- Bailey registered three run stops for the second consecutive week, extending his season total to seven, the most among all rookies when lined up on the edge, and tied for the sixth-most among all rookies overall.
- CB Azareye'h Thomas has allowed just 0.64 yards per snap this season, ranking top 10 among all outside corners with at least 100 coverage snaps on the year.
- Thomas and CB Brandon Stephens together rank as one of the top corner duos in the league, as the pair have allowed an average of 0.78 yards per snap, the fourth-fewest among the 15 corner duos with 100+ coverage snaps each.
- RB Braelon Allen rushed for a career-high 59 yards in Week Four, including a 4.2 average on 14 attempts, the second-highest of his career in a game with at least 10 carries.
- WR Isaiah Williams recorded a team-high 73 yards and one touchdown on two receptions in Week Four, including a 58-yard touchdown, the first receiving touchdown of his career. Since joining the Jets last season (2025), Williams is one of only three players in the league with a 50+ yard kickoff return, a 50+ yard punt return, and a 50+ yard reception, joining Rashid Shaheed (SEA) and Jaylin Noel (HST).
- Williams is also one of just six players with three+ touchdowns of 50+ yards since the start of last season.
- CB Qwan'tez Stiggers registered a team-high two tackles on special teams vs. CHI, marking his third-career multi-tackle game on special teams. Stiggers owns a 17.6% gunner win rate this season, defined by PFF as the percentage of punt snaps where a gunner achieves a positive outcome, the seventh-highest mark among all players with 10+ snaps at gunner.
- S Dane Belton matched his career-high with 14 tackles vs. CHI, adding a pass defensed. This season, Belton owns a 22.2% ball hawk rate, defined by Next Gen Stats as the percentage of plays in which a defender disrupts a pass when they are the nearest defender, the seventh-highest rate among all safeties with 120+ coverage snaps and five+ targets.
- P Austin McNamara recorded the third- and fourth-longest punts of his career vs. CHI, a 62- and 59-yarder. He downed one punt inside the five, extending his streak of punts downed inside the 20 to 13, the longest active streak in the league and the fifth-longest streak by a Jet this century.
- C Josh Myers did not allow any pressures on 18 pass blocking snaps vs. CHI. It marks Myers' fifth game as a Jet not allowing any pressures, tied for the fourth-most such games among all centers dating back to last season (2025).
- DL Harrison Phillips registered a team-high six run stops vs. CHI, the second-most by any player in Week Four and tied for the second-most by a defensive tackle in a single game this season.

THE MATCHUP

- Sunday's game marks the 31st meeting between the Jets and CLV, and their second in as many years.
- In their last matchup (11/09/25), RB Kene Nwangwu returned a kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown, followed by a WR Isaiah Williams 74-yard punt return touchdown 23 seconds later. The pair of scores marked the first time in franchise history that the Jets have logged both a kickoff and punt return for a touchdown in the same game since at least the merger (1970).
- Also in their last matchup, EDGE Will McDonald IV registered a career-high 4.0 sacks and matched his career-high nine pressures, posting a 28.1% pressure rate. It marked the first 4.0+ sack game by a Jet since John Abraham in 2001, and is still one of only six 4.0+ sack, nine+ pressure games in the NGS era (since 2016).
- WR Garrett Wilson recorded his first career 100-yard game and caught the first two touchdowns of his career vs. CLV in Week Two (09/18/22). For his career, Wilson owns 152 yards and two touchdowns on 13 receptions vs. CLV.

CRUCIAL CATCH

The New York Jets and Atlantic Health are continuing to fight against cancer as part of the NFL and American Cancer's Society's "Crucial Catch: Intercept Cancer" Campaign. As part of the initiative, QB Geno Smith, DL Harrison Phillips, OG Joe Tippmann and WR Isaiah Williams spent time with pediatric patients at Atlantic Health Goryeb Children's Hospital, and surprised them with custom Jets jerseys, signed footballs and invitations to serve as honorary captains for the game. As part of the honor, each child will receive a $250 shopping spree, join the team on the field for pregame warmups, and watch the game from a suite. In addition, the Jets and Atlantic Health will give one pediatric patient who cannot attend the game an opportunity to participate in the shopping spree on gameday at the Jets Team Store with a V-Go Robot.

Prior to kickoff, the Jets and Atlantic Health will unveil a TIFO in the north end zone featuring artwork inspired by children receiving care at Atlantic Health.

Additionally, proceeds from the game's 50/50 raffle will benefit Atlantic Health Goryeb Children's Hospital.

LEGENDS WEEKEND

The Jets are welcoming back over 100 Legends for the annual Legends Weekend celebration. On gameday, several Legends will be making appearances throughout MetLife Stadium and at the Tailgate Zone. All returning Legends will be honored on-field before player introductions.

"I am just so impressed with Geno, I cannot express that enough. I know we haven't played in games yet, we got a long way to go. We got a lot to prove and everybody's got a lot to prove. But man, he is on point. His preparation is top-notch. His football mind is elite. I mean the way he's communicating in the huddle, at the line of scrimmage, the way he communicates in the quarterback room. I've been around a lot of really smart and good quarterbacks, I mean he is, all I'm going to say is we're in good shape. We're in good shape."

- Offensive Coordinator Frank Reich, 6.17.26

"I think he's just proven, number one, that he's a special talent to be able to be a starting quarterback in multiple places and have that tenure over a decade inside this game. Many quarterbacks are able to extend their career, but a lot of times that's from backup positions or veteran roles, and to be trusted enough to be the starting quarterback, named that, that speaks to who he is as a player. I think he has a phenomenal arm talent. If you watched OTAs and the throws, that's not going anywhere. If anything, it's gotten more sharp. He has just a ton of control on the football, and I think what he brings here this time is just a level of wisdom, humility, and focus. You know who he is as a player, but when they have that level of internal control, it just speaks a lot to his leadership and you have to go through a certain amount of life to get that, you can't buy it."

QUOTED

"He's a dude, he's a dude. And it's not just the catches. If you go out there and watch practice, just watch how he blocks, just watch how he competes. Obviously, we know what he's going to do when it comes to special teams, but on offense, just watch how he operates. He's a dude."

"He is no doubt a number one receiver in this league, and it's not like we didn't know that, but the plays that he can make, the way he can contort his body, the way he can come down and be sure to catch some of those 50/50 balls or what not. To him, some of them are 80/20, because he's going to come down with a lot of them. Man, he is an amazing person to sit there and just watch."

- Head Coach Aaron Glenn, 10.1.25

"I think the world of Garrett. I followed his career since he was at Ohio State. He's a great receiver, a tremendous person. The way that he works, his work ethic, his talent speaks for itself, but just a great teammate as well."

ACTIVE ROSTER — 53 players

A

0 RB — BRAELON ALLEN
Owns the most rushing yards by a player before their 21st birthday in NFL history since the merger.

B

31 EDGE — DAVID BAILEY
One of four defenders since 2020 to tally at least three pressures in each of his first four career games.

47 FB — ANDREW BECK
With Beck on the field in 2025, the Jets special teams unit posted a 49.90 EPA, the 10th highest mark in the league among all non-returners with at least 150 special teams snaps.

6 S — DANE BELTON
The only player in the NFL since at least 1994, when special teams tackles were first officially tracked, to register 100 tackles on defense and 20 tackles on special teams in the same season, a feat he accomplished last season (2025).

91 DL — JOWON BRIGGS
From Week 10 to Week 17 (2025), posted multiple pressures from the interior in eight-straight games (seven of which were the first starts of his career), the second-longest streak in the league behind only 2025 Pro Bowl selection Zach Allen.

2 CB — JARVIS BROWNLEE JR.
His 95.2% tackle efficiency is tied for the third-highest in the league among defensive backs with 50+ tackle attempts since 2025, and second among cornerbacks.

C

8 S — ANDRE CISCO
One of only seven active players since he entered the league (2021) with at least eight interceptions and a pick-six when lined up as a high safety.

D

56 LB — DEMARIO DAVIS
Five-time All-Pro who leads all active NFL defenders in tackles (1,568).

32 RB — ISAIAH DAVIS
One of three running backs since 2024 to register 15+ tackles on special teams and rush for over 400 yards.

E

52 EDGE — KINGSLEY ENAGBARE
Of the 262 players selected in the 2022 NFL Draft, one of only seven to miss one or fewer games (71 games played).

F

74 OT — OLU FASHANU
Allowed two or less pressures in 10 games last season (2025), one of only 11 left tackles to record 10 or more such games.

29 S — MINKAH FITZPATRICK
Has logged an interception in 20 career games, the fourth-most games among active NFL safeties.

H

20 RB — BREECE HALL
Owns 3,561 career rushing yards, ranking 10th on the Jets' all-time rushing list.

96 DL — JACK HEFLIN
Earned All-XFL honors with the Houston Roughnecks (2023) in between NFL stints.

42 LS — THOMAS HENNESSY
One of only six players to appear in every game since 2017 (153 games played).

J

95 DL — DARRELL JACKSON JR.
All-ACC honorable mention and FSU Defensive MVP last season (2025).

K

10 QB — CADE KLUBNIK
Owns the fifth-most wins (26) and third-most passing yards (10,123) by a quarterback in Clemson history.

L

60 DL — KOHL LEVAO
Earned All-UFL (2024) with the San Antonio Brahamas.

M

51 LB — KIKO MAUIGOA
Started eight games as a rookie last season (2025), tied for the fourth-most among all rookies drafted in the fifth round or later, and the most starts by a Jets rookie drafted in the fifth round or later since 2021 (Brandin Echols and Michael Carter II).

84 WR — MALIK MCCLAIN
Big 12 Champion and CFP Semifinalist with Arizona State (2024) where he caught a 42-yard touchdown from Cam Skattebo in the fourth quarter of the Peach Bowl vs. Texas.

9 EDGE — WILL MCDONALD IV
One of only 12 players in the league to hold an active streak of consecutive 8.0+ sack seasons.

55 EDGE — BRAIDEN MCGREGOR
Third-year defensive lineman who has appeared in 19 career games, earning a spot on the team as an undrafted free agent after winning the CFP National Championship with Michigan.

14 P — AUSTIN MCNAMARA
Posted a 43.2 net average on 71 punts last season (2025), his first in the league, the highest net average by a Jets punter in a single season since Stats Pass began tracking in 1976.

70 OT — ARMAND MEMBOU
The seventh Jets rookie offensive lineman since the merger to start every game, and the first to do so since Nick Mangold and D'Brickashaw Ferguson (2006).

67 OL — JORDAN MEREDITH
In 2024 with LV, only allowed 20 pressures on 373 pass blocking snaps, the fewest among all guards in the league who registered at least 350 pass blocking snaps.

15 WR — ADONAI MITCHELL
Has averaged 14.68 air yards per target for his career, the fifth-highest mark among all receivers with 50+ receptions since 2024.

61 OT — MAX MITCHELL
In 45 career games (17 starts), all with the Jets (2022-present), has played right tackle, left tackle, and guard.

27 S — MALACHI MOORE
Registered 95 tackles last season as a rookie (2025), the fourth-most by a Jets rookie defender and the second-most by a Jets rookie safety since 2000.

71 OC — JOSH MYERS
Since becoming a full-time starter (2022), has missed just one game, starting in 71 of a possible 72 during that stretch, tied for the second-most among all centers.

N

3 RB — KENE NWANGWU
The 10th player in NFL history with five kickoff return touchdowns within their first five seasons in the league.

79 OT — CHUKWUMA OKORAFOR
Has made starts at both left and right tackle over 92 career games.

46 EDGE — JOSEPH OSSAI
Posted a career-high 13.2% pressure rate last season (2025), totaling 45.

64 OG — DYLAN PARHAM
Since 2022, has recorded 16 games without allowing a sack while logging at least 40 pass-blocking snaps, tied for the seventh-most among all guards during that span.

97 DL — HARRISON PHILLIPS
Currently owns the longest consecutive start streak among all defensive tackles in the league (77).

23 CB — D'ANGELO PONDS
Registered 54 tackles last season (2025) during the Hoosiers' National Championship campaign, the third-most among all Power Four cornerbacks.

81 WR — JAMAAL PRITCHETT
His 91 receptions as a senior at South Alabama (2024) were the third-most in the FBS.

R

50 LB — TROY REEDER
Through Week Seven of 2024 with LAR, before suffering a season-ending injury, registered 46 tackles, the fifth-most among all NFL undrafted linebackers.

89 TE — JEREMY RUCKERT
Has caught 83.8% of his targets since last season, the second highest average among tight ends with at least 30 targets in that span.

16 TE — KENYON SADIQ
The first rookie tight end to record a rushing and receiving touchdown within the first three games of his career since Ozzie Newsome (1978).

19 K — JASON SANDERS
The first kicker in franchise history to record multiple field goals from 50+ in a season opener.

44 LB — JAMIEN SHERWOOD
The only player in the league to record consecutive 150+ tackle seasons since 2024, and only the second Jet to do so this century, joining C.J. Mosley (2021-23).

7 QB — GENO SMITH
Owns the second-highest completion percentage among all quarterbacks with 2,000 attempts since 2022 (68.5%).

21 CB

BRANDON STEPHENS

Has logged 70+ tackles and nine+ passes defensed in each of the last three seasons, one of just five players to do so, and one of two corners.

QWAN'TEZ STIGGERS

The first player in NFL history to be drafted out of the CFL with no prior college experience.

99 DL

T'VONDRE SWEAT

Registered 10 run stuffs in 2024 (defined by Next Gen Stats as tackles against the run that resulted in no gain or a loss of yards), leading all rookie defensive tackles and ranking third among all rookies.

T

MASON TAYLOR

Recorded 44 receptions as a rookie (2025), the second-most by a Jets rookie tight end since the merger behind only Dustin Keller (48; 2008), while his 369 yards were the fourth-most.

1 CB

AZAREYE'H THOMAS

Recorded at least one pass defensed in eight straight games, tying Aaron Glenn (2001) and Darrelle Revis (2007-2008) for the longest streak by a Jet this century.

66 OG

JOE TIPPMANN

Finished 2025 recording seven games allowing one or less pressure, one of only 10 right guards in the league with at least seven such games.

TREVIN WALLACE

In his first three career starts with CAR (Weeks Five-Seven; 2024), notched 31 tackles, the most among all defenders within their first three starts since 2022.

18 WR

ISAIAH WILLIAMS

Became just the third player in franchise history to record multiple punt return touchdowns in a season.

5 WR

GARRETT WILSON

The 10th player in NFL history to eclipse 1,000 receiving yards in each of his first three seasons.

86 TE

JELANI WOODS

Five-year veteran tight end who was claimed by the Jets at final cutdowns last season (2025) from IND.

26 CB

NAHSHON WRIGHT

Led the league in takeaways last season (2025) with eight, a career-high, as part of a defense that registered a league-high 33 takeaways.

COACHING STAFF

AARON GLENN enters his second season as the head coach of the New York Jets, re-joining the team 31 years after he was selected in the first round of the 1994 NFL Draft. 2026 marks Glenn's 29th year in the NFL, highlighted by 15 as a player (eight with the Jets), two as a scout (both with the Jets), and now 12 as a coach.

"This place is special for me," Glenn said after being hired. "From the time I was drafted and practiced on Long Island, to the time I came back as a scout in New Jersey, this organization has always felt like home. There is nothing better than having my start here as a player, here as a scout, and now here as a head coach."

Working closely with General Manager Darren Mougey to lead the organization at the highest level, the two are aligned in their vision and approach, sharing the common goal of building a winning organization built on sustained success.

In his first season back with the team (2025), Glenn oversaw one of the youngest rosters in football, recording a league-high 10,123 snaps by first- and second-year players. On the final roster, 24 of 53 players (45.3%) started the 2025 season on the practice squad or with another team. A testament to Glenn's emphasis on player development, 15 of the final 53 players (28.3%) on the final roster were originally signed to, or spent time on, the practice squad prior to being signed to the active roster.

Despite the youth and change through Glenn's first year, the Jets decreased their penalties per game average to 6.47 after leading the league in each of the prior two seasons (2023-24). The team's decrease (-1.59) in penalties per game from 2024 represented the third-largest in the league, in addition to decreasing their 15-yard penalty count by the fifth-largest margin.

The Jets were a top-10 third-down defense for the first time since 2018, forcing three-and-out punts at a top-10 rate as well. On offense, the Jets notched a top-10 rushing unit for the first time since 2015, and averaged 4.6 yards per carry, the third-highest mark by a Jets offense in franchise history. The offensive line saw the same five starters every week, the first unit across the league since 2023 to start every game together, and the first Jets unit to accomplish the feat since 2012.

The special teams unit posted the highest Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century and the third-highest by any team in the last 10 seasons. They produced top 10 ranks in several categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), and extra point percentage (100.0%). They became the first Jets team since 2007 to score four touchdowns on special teams, tied for the league lead.

Resiliency has been a calling card of Glenn's career, never skipping a step – as a player, scout, or coach. He started in junior college before an All-American career at Texas A&M. As a first-round pick with the Jets in 1994, he was part of a team that won 10 total games over his first three seasons. His next five, the Jets never had a losing record, making the postseason twice, including the AFC Championship Game in 1998.

When he wanted to get into coaching, he called his former head coach, Bill Parcells, who said, "You're not going to coach yet. First, I want you to scout. I think you have a chance to be a head coach with your personality. But in order to be a head coach, you have to understand the personnel part of football."

As prescribed, he started his scouting career, joining the Jets as a pro scout (2012) for a year before going on the road as an area scout (2013). The 2013 Jets draft produced five eventual NFL starters, including two future Pro Bowl selections in Geno Smith and Sheldon Richardson, the 2013 Defensive Rookie of the Year.

As a coach, he began as an assistant defensive backs coach with Cleveland (2014-15), before becoming a defensive backs coach in New Orleans (2016-20), and finally a defensive coordinator for Detroit (2021-24). He is one of only two active NFL head coaches to have been drafted by and played for the team they coach, joining Houston Head Coach DeMeco Ryans.

As defensive coordinator with the Lions (2021-24), Glenn's unit improved every season. After a 3-13-1 season in his first year (2021), Detroit won 36 games between 2022-24, the fourth most in the league, including a league-best 27 in his final two seasons (2023-24).

In his final year (2024), Glenn's defense finished in the top 10 in scoring defense and takeaways. A strong complement to the offense, Detroit led the league with a +13.1 point per game differential–the fifth-highest margin by any team in the last 25 NFL seasons. The Lions finished fifth in the NFL in rushing defense (1,672) and fourth in percentage of rushing first downs allowed (23.3%), while allowing the lowest opposing passer rating (82.0), and second lowest completion percentage allowed (61.1%). Detroit finished with the lowest third-down conversion rate allowed (32.4%), despite placing a number of key defensive players on injured reserve throughout the season, including five Week One starters.

Through his commitment to their development and success, Glenn elevated his players to reach individual accolades and milestones during his time in Detroit. Safety Kerby Joseph was named first-team All-Pro (2024) after leading the NFL in interceptions (nine), safety Brian Branch earned his first Pro Bowl honor (2024) after he recorded the most forced incompletions among safeties (12) and finished tied for fifth in passes defensed (16), and defensive lineman Aidan Hutchinson earned Pro Bowl honors (2023) after recording 11.5 sacks and 83 pressures, the fifth-most in the NFL.

As the defensive backs coach for the Saints (2016-20), Glenn developed key defensive playmakers in the secondary: Marcus Williams, Vonn Bell, C.J. Gardner-Johnson, and Marshon Lattimore, who was named Defensive Rookie of the Year (2017) and was selected to three Pro Bowls in his first four seasons. In his final season in New Orleans (2020), the defense finished fourth in the NFL in yards allowed per game (310.9) and fifth in points allowed per game (21.1). Additionally, New Orleans finished tied for first in the league in interceptions (18) and tied for the third-most takeaways (26).

In his first season coaching in the league (2014), Glenn, the assistant secondary coach with Cleveland, worked with a secondary unit that earned three Pro Bowl selections. It marked the first time the franchise sent three defensive backs to the Pro Bowl in a single season. That year, the Browns led the NFL in opponent passer rating allowed (74.1), completion percentage allowed (57.1%), and passes defensed (99).

During his brief retirement from football, Glenn owned eight restaurants in the Houston area, before returning to the game he loves in 2012 as the general manager of the Houston Stallions of the Lone Star Football League, an indoor league in Texas.

A three-time Pro Bowl selection himself, Glenn entered the league as the 12th overall selection in the 1994 NFL Draft by the Jets. In his 15-year career (the first eight with the Jets), he played 205 games (176 starts) for five different teams and posted 41 interceptions, six of which he returned for touchdowns. Those 41 interceptions are still a top 20 total since 1994. He is one of just four cornerbacks in Jets history to play 100+ games for the team, joining James Hasty, Ray Mickens, and Darrelle Revis. His 24 interceptions with the Jets are tied for the fourth-most in franchise history.

A Humble, TX native, Glenn was a four-year letterwinner in football, basketball, and track at Nimitz (TX) HS, before going on to Navarro College in Corsicana, TX and then Texas A&M. A 1993 graduate with a degree in business management, Glenn was a two-time All-American and the Aggies' all-time leader in passes defensed in a season (20), season punt-return average (19.9), and punt return yards in a game (131). He was selected to the Texas A&M Athletic Hall of Fame in 2000.

Glenn and his wife, Devaney, have a son, Aaron II, and two daughters, Tristen and Rheagen. One of 11 children, he and his brother, Jason–a six-year NFL linebacker–spent a season as teammates on the Jets (2001).

CHRIS BANJO

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

4 | 2 | Houston, TX | SMU

Chris Banjo enters his second season with the New York Jets as the special teams coordinator. Following a 10-year NFL playing career that ended after the 2022 season, Banjo is now in his fourth season as a coach after spending two seasons as a special teams assistant with Denver (2023–24).

Just three seasons removed from his playing career, and in his first season as a coordinator (2025), Banjo led one of the top special teams units in football, posting the highest special teams Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century and the third-highest by any team in the last 10 seasons.

"Just ultimate buy in with this group," Banjo said last season. "Ultimate buy in and belief. And I said this before, but the combination of buy in and belief, I think it's a hell of a combination."

That combination allowed the Jets to improve in nearly every special teams metric, finishing the season with top 10 rankings in 10 major special teams categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), extra point percentage (100.0%), and special teams touchdowns (four).

2025 Curtis Martin Team MVP wide receiver/return specialist Isaiah Williams and running back/return specialist Kene Nwangwu each had career seasons in the return game for Banjo last season. Williams became just the third player in franchise history to record multiple punt return touchdowns in a season, while Nwangwu ranked second in the NFL with a 33.6-yard kickoff return average, including a 99-yard kickoff return touchdown—his league-leading fifth since entering the NFL in 2021.

Those three kick return touchdowns, combined with a blocked field goal return score from EDGE Will McDonald IV, gave the Jets four special teams touchdowns, the most by the franchise since 2007. Since 2016, only six other special teams coordinators (nine occurrences) have led units with at least three special teams touchdowns, with Banjo the only one to accomplish the feat in his first season at the helm.

Under Banjo in 2025, first-year punter Austin McNamara posted a 43.2 net average, the highest ever by a Jets punter in a season, while kicker Nick Folk, an 18-year veteran, missed just one field goal, becoming the first kicker in the Super Bowl era to lead the league in field goal percentage for three consecutive seasons. Overall, the team's 98.04% combined rate on field goal and extra point attempts was the highest in franchise history.

Prior to joining the Jets, Banjo served as a special teams assistant with Denver (2023-24), where he worked with long-time Jets Special Teams Coordinator Mike Westhoff. In 2024, wide receiver/return specialist Marvin Mims Jr. led the league in yards per punt return (15.7), and earned first-team All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors. Additionally, kicker Wil Lutz recorded the fourth-best field goal percentage (91.2%) in the NFL among all kickers with at least 30 attempts. As a unit, the Broncos finished with top 10 ranks in yards per punt return, field goal percentage, and opponent yards per punt return.

In his first season with Denver (2023), Banjo's special teams unit ranked at the top in multiple categories, with top 10 finishes in punt return average, punt return average against, kickoff return average, and kickoff return average against.

A safety and special teams standout for 10 seasons in the NFL (2013-22) with Green Bay, New Orleans, and Arizona, he appeared in 131 regular season games after entering the league as an undrafted free agent. He finished his career with 85 defensive tackles, three interceptions, eight passes defensed, one forced fumble, and two fumble recoveries. His 58 career special teams tackles ranked in the top 20 among all players over that 10-season span.

With New Orleans (2017-18), Banjo overlapped with Head Coach Aaron Glenn, then his position coach, as part of a team that won consecutive division titles and advanced to the NFC Championship game (2018).

A graduate of SMU, Banjo played in 51 games (47 starts) for the Mustangs (2008-11), and recorded 321 tackles, four interceptions, 17 passes defensed, three forced fumbles, and three fumble recoveries. He earned second-team All-Conference USA honors as a junior (2010) and honorable mention All-Conference USA following his senior season (2011).

A native of Houston, TX, Banjo and his wife, Jasmine, have two sons, Christopher Jr., and Cairo, and one daughter, Celine.

Named defensive coordinator in January 2026, Brian Duker joins the New York Jets with 10 seasons of coaching experience in the NFL, including the last two seasons in Miami as the pass game coordinator/secondary coach (2024-25). Duker reunites with Head Coach Aaron Glenn, who he coached with in both Cleveland (2015) and Detroit (2021-23).

"During our time in Detroit, Brian consistently demonstrated a high football acumen and an aggressive approach to defense," Glenn said. "I'm confident that his energy and knowledge of the game will help elevate our players and push this team forward."

Part of top 10 defenses four different times in Baltimore (2018-20) and Miami (2024), Duker has helped 10 different players reach the Pro Bowl since 2018 while also working with six players that were selected to the PFWA All-Rookie team. Throughout his decade-long coaching career in the league, Duker has worked with eight active NFL head coaches, including time on staff with at least two different active head coaches in every season coached between 2015-23.

In Miami (2024), Duker helped the unit finish fourth in total defense, holding opponents to an average of 314.4 yards per game–their lowest mark in 15 seasons–in addition to the sixth-lowest third down conversion rate allowed (35.9%) that season. Under Duker, the secondary limited opposing passers to a 63.8% completion percentage and an 88.7 passer rating, both top 10 marks in the league.

Before arriving in Miami, Duker spent three seasons in Detroit serving in various roles under Glenn, then the defensive coordinator. He got his start with the Lions as a defensive assistant (2021), before being promoted to safeties coach (2022), and then defensive backs coach (2023), contributing to a turnaround that delivered the Lions a division title en route to a conference championship appearance (2023), both their first in 30 years.

As the defensive backs coach in Detroit (2023), the Lions allowed the 10th lowest completion percentage, finishing the season with 76 passes defensed, the 10th most. Duker led a defensive backs room that saw three different players each register at least three interceptions.

Duker also played a major role in the development of the Lions young talent, as safeties Kerby Joseph and Brian Branch registered four and three interceptions respectively as rookies (2022 and 2023), despite neither player being selected in the first round. In their final season with Duker (2023), the duo became one of only two safety tandems in the league with 70+ tackles and three+ interceptions each.

Prior to Detroit, Duker spent three seasons in Baltimore, where he served as a defensive staff assistant/coaching analyst (2018) and then a defensive coaching analyst (2019-20). Baltimore ranked top 10 in total defense in all three seasons.

Duker got his start in the NFL as a defensive intern with Cleveland (2015) and Glenn, then the Browns assistant secondary coach, before a year as a defensive analyst with San Francisco (2016).

A student assistant at his alma mater, Towson (2007-10), he began his coaching career at Bryant as a graduate assistant (2011), where he earned his MBA, followed by two seasons at Missouri as a graduate assistant (2013) and as a defensive quality control coach (2014). He helped the Tigers win the SEC East and advance to the SEC Championship in back-to-back seasons, totaling 23 wins, the most in a two-year stretch in program history, in addition to wins in the Cotton Bowl (2014) and Citrus Bowl (2015).

A Maryland native, Duker earned his bachelor's degree from Towson. He and his wife, CJ, have two sons.

After being named as the offensive coordinator in February 2026, Frank Reich enters his first year coaching with the New York Jets, reuniting with the franchise 30 years after playing for the team (1996). Reich brings more than three decades of NFL experience, including six seasons as a head coach, with a coaching career that spans 20 years following a 14-year career as a quarterback in the NFL.

"Frank has a rare combination of experience, creativity, and calm under pressure," Head Coach Aaron Glenn said. "He's lived this game from every angle — as a quarterback in this league and as a coach who's led offenses at the highest level. He is unique in his ability to see the game for what it is right now and adapt when appropriate. Frank understands offense and how to utilize the strengths of players. I am looking forward to how he will help this team have success."

A Super Bowl champion (LII) and veteran of six Super Bowls (four as a player, two as a coach), Reich's championship pedigree began as a player with Buffalo, continuing most recently as the offensive coordinator in Philadelphia (2017). Reich returns to the NFL after a season at Stanford University (2025) as the interim head coach.

With Stanford (2025), Reich led the Cardinal to their most wins since 2020, producing the program's first year-over-year improvement in more than 10 seasons. Under his leadership, multiple Stanford players earned All-ACC honors for the first time in their careers, including a pair of second-team selections.

Reich served as the head coach of the Indianapolis Colts for five seasons (2018-22), followed by one season with the Carolina Panthers (2023). During his tenure in Indianapolis, Reich guided the Colts to a 40-33-1 record, finishing three of his five seasons with a winning record and advancing to the postseason twice. In that span, the Colts ranked in the top half of the league in scoring and total offense three times, despite starting nine quarterbacks over that span, including a different Week One starter each season.

In his first four seasons with the Colts (2018-21), the offense averaged 24.6 points per game, the ninth most in the league, and were one of only four teams to average 25.0+ points per game in at least three seasons. Notably, Reich produced a 1,000-yard running back three times.

In 2018, his first season as a head coach, Reich led the Colts to the postseason for the first time since 2014, ending the season on a nine-game winning streak after starting the year 1-5, just the third team in NFL history to make the postseason after a 1-5 start. He helped quarterback Andrew Luck earn NFL Comeback Player of the Year honors and guard Quenton Nelson earn AP All-Pro honors as a rookie.

Prior to his time as a head coach, Reich spent two seasons as the offensive coordinator in Philadelphia (2016-17), helping the Eagles win Super Bowl LII, their first in franchise history. Over those two years, the offense ranked in the top 10 in both points per game (25.8) and yards per game (351.6).

In their Super Bowl season (2017), the Eagles offense ranked third in the league in scoring (28.6) and seventh in total offense (365.8). Despite losing MVP-candidate quarterback Carson Wentz to a season ending injury in Week 14, Reich's offense averaged 442.7 yards per game in the postseason, producing the highest offensive scoring output in a Super Bowl this century (41).

Reich was elevated to offensive coordinator in San Diego (2014-15), after spending one season as the Chargers quarterbacks coach (2013). In 2015, Reich led a top 10 offense, with quarterback Philip Rivers posting one of the best statistical seasons of his career, throwing for a career-high 4,792 yards and leading the league with 437 completions.

Before arriving in San Diego, Reich served as the wide receivers coach for the Arizona Cardinals (2012), where he helped first-ballot Hall of Fame wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald earn his seventh career Pro Bowl selection, and aided in the development of rookie WR Michael Floyd, who finished the season ranked inside the top 10 among rookie receivers in multiple statistical categories.

Reich's coaching career began in 2006 with Indianapolis as a coaching intern before being elevated to an offensive coaching staff assistant (2008). He later served as quarterbacks coach (2009-10) and wide receivers coach (2011). The Colts won four division titles and clinched the playoffs in every season during Reich's initial stint with the team, appearing in the Super Bowl twice (2006 and 2009), with a win in Super Bowl XLI.

A quarterback in the NFL for 14 seasons (1985–98), Reich spent the first 10 seasons of his career in Buffalo (1985-94), where he reached four consecutive Super Bowls (1991-94). Notably, as a backup in 1992, Reich engineered the largest postseason comeback in NFL history, a 32-point rally against the Houston Oilers in the Wild Card Round where he threw four second-half touchdowns.

Having also spent time with Carolina, the Jets, and Detroit over his 14-year playing career, Reich appeared in 118 games (20 starts), and recorded 6,075 passing yards and 40 touchdowns. In his lone season with the Jets (1996), Reich started seven games, a single-season best, and was teammates with Glenn.

A native of Freeport, NY, Reich and his wife, Linda, have three daughters: Lia, Aviry, and Hannah.

DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

COLLIN BAUER brings more than 15 years of coaching experience to the Jets after helping lead the Michigan Panthers to consecutive postseason appearances and a berth in the 2025 UFL Championship Game as a defensive coordinator.

Before joining the professional ranks, Bauer coached at Towson, Rutgers, Maryland, and The Citadel, helping develop several future NFL players, including Yannick Ngakoue, Sebastian Joseph-Day, Kemoko Turay, and Quinton Jefferson. Under his leadership, the Panthers fielded one of the UFL's top defenses, leading the league in rushing defense in 2025 and becoming the only team to allow 81 or fewer rushing yards per game in consecutive seasons.

During his three seasons in Detroit, the Lions won 36 games and consecutive division titles while ranking among the NFL leaders in quarterback hits, pressures, and run defense. Notably, Davis helped mentor Aidan Hutchinson to Defensive Rookie of the Year honors in 2022 after a 9.5-sack season.

Prior to his NFL tenure, Davis spent nearly a decade coaching at the collegiate level with stops at Lamar, Kentucky, Rice, and Texas A&M, helping develop multiple standout defensive linemen and pass rushers.

Most recently, Dunbar spent eight seasons with Pittsburgh, where the Steelers led the NFL with 392.0 sacks and where he helped guide T.J. He has helped coordinate top-performing defenses with the Jets, Titans, and Commanders, while earning a reputation for developing defensive backs, overseeing standout seasons from players such as Amani Hooker, Kendall Fuller, and several young Jets contributors, including rookie safety Malachi Moore last season (2025).

A former NFL safety and Super Bowl XLI starter, Harris appeared in 101 career games with 88 starts, totaling 422 tackles, 16 interceptions, 13 forced fumbles, nine fumble recoveries, and 37 passes defensed over eight seasons before transitioning into coaching.

OFFENSIVE LINE

STEVE HEIDEN enters his second season as the Jets' offensive line coach after helping guide New York to its highest rushing average since 2014 and a top 10 rushing attack last season (2025). Over 13 NFL coaching seasons with the Jets, DET, and ARZ, he has played a key role in developing young talent, most notably helping DET TE Sam LaPorta set NFL records for production by a tight end in his first two seasons and mentoring rookie OT Armand Membou during a standout debut campaign in 2025 that culminated with earning a spot on the PFWA All-Rookie Team.

A former 11-year NFL tight end, Heiden appeared in 172 games with the Chargers and Browns, totaling 201 receptions for 1,689 yards and 14 touchdowns, before transitioning into a coaching career that has included helping produce some of the league's most productive offenses.

WIDE RECEIVERS

SHAWN JEFFERSON enters his third season in his current stint with the Jets and his 22nd season as an NFL coach. Throughout his coaching career, Jefferson has helped develop and mentor elite playmakers such as Calvin Johnson, who set the NFL single-season receiving yards record in 2012, Garrett Wilson, who became the first receiver in Jets history to begin his career with three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons, and Pro Bowl receivers including Jarvis Landry, Adam Thielen, and Davante Adams.

During his time in Detroit, he coached Johnson to three Pro Bowl selections and two NFL receiving titles, while helping establish one of the league's most productive passing attacks. Jefferson has also consistently elevated young and veteran receivers alike, overseeing multiple 1,000-yard seasons and record-setting performances across stops with the Lions, Titans, Dolphins, Cardinals, Panthers, and Jets. A former NFL wide receiver, Jefferson totaled 470 receptions for 7,024 yards and 29 touchdowns over 13 seasons before transitioning into coaching.

Football is also a family affair, as his son, Van Jefferson, followed in his footsteps to the NFL and currently plays wide receiver for the Washington Commanders.

ASSISTANT SPECIAL TEAMS

RANDALL JETTE enters his second season with the Jets and his first as a special teams assistant after helping New York field one of the NFL's premier special teams units in 2025. Working alongside Chris Banjo and Kevin O'Dea, Jette contributed to a unit that led the league in special teams EPA, kickoff return average, field goal percentage, and special teams touchdowns, while ranking among the NFL's top 10 in 10 major special teams categories.

Prior to joining the Jets, Jette coached at New Hampshire, UMass, Howard, and Wagner, gaining experience on offense, defense, and special teams. A former standout defensive back at UMass, he finished with the second-most passes defensed in school history and earned a free-agent opportunity with the Green Bay Packers after his collegiate career.

NIC McKISSIC enters his second season with the Jets after helping guide New York to a top 10 rushing attack in 2025, highlighted by Breece Hall's first 1,000-yard rushing season and the franchise's highest rushing average since 2014. Before making his NFL coaching debut with the Jets, McKissic spent 17 years in the collegiate ranks, developing productive rushing attacks at Minnesota, Northern Illinois, Youngstown State, South Dakota State, and Benedict College, while mentoring future NFL players such as Zach Zenner. His teams consistently found success on the ground, including a Northern Illinois offense that ranked second in the MAC in rushing in 2022 and Minnesota squads that earned consecutive bowl victories.

A former standout running back at Alabama A&M, McKissic rushed for more than 2,000 career yards and helped lead the Bulldogs to the 2006 SWAC championship.

KEVIN O'DEA enters his second season in his current stint with the Jets and his 26th season as an NFL coach, bringing one of the league's most accomplished special teams résumés to New York. In 2025, he helped guide a historic Jets special teams unit that led the NFL in special teams EPA and ranked first in kickoff return average, field goal percentage, extra point percentage, and special teams touchdowns, while also helping develop rookie punter Austin McNamara and veteran kicker Nick Folk to record-setting seasons. Throughout his career, O'Dea has coached for nine NFL organizations and helped produce numerous Pro Bowl and All-Pro special teamers, including Devin Hester, Leon Washington, and Dexter McCluster, while his units have combined for 26 return touchdowns.

A former Coast Guard serviceman, O'Dea began his coaching career in the college ranks before launching a decades-long NFL career that has included two previous playoff runs with the Jets, highlighted by the club's AFC Championship Game appearance following the 2009 season.

TIGHT ENDS

ALFREDO ROBERTS joins the Jets with more than 20 years of NFL coaching experience, most recently helping Pat Freiermuth become Pittsburgh's all-time leader in receptions and receiving yards by a tight end through his first four seasons. During his five-year tenure with the Steelers, Roberts oversaw one of the league's most productive tight end groups, while also previously coaching standout performers such as Hunter Henry, Dwayne Allen, and Coby Fleener. His coaching résumé includes stops with the PIT, LAC, IND, JAX, CLV, and TB, following a six-year NFL playing career as a tight end with KC and DAL.

Roberts is a two-time Super Bowl champion with DAL and a two-time national champion at Miami

PASS GAME COORDINATOR

SETH RYAN enters his first season with the Jets as passing game coordinator, continuing a unique family legacy as the third generation of the Ryan family to coach with the organization. During five seasons with Detroit, Ryan was part of the Lions' most successful stretch in franchise history, helping an offense that ranked among the NFL's best and featured standout performances from Amon-Ra St. Brown, Jameson Williams, and rookie-record-setting quarterback Justin Herbert during his earlier tenure with the Chargers. Ryan contributed to Detroit's rise to consecutive division titles and an NFC Championship Game appearance, while helping develop one of the league's most explosive passing attacks.

A former Clemson wide receiver, Ryan was part of a national championship team and two ACC championship teams before beginning his NFL coaching career.

OFFENSIVE ASSISTANT

MATTHEW SARGENT enters his first NFL season with the Jets after spending the previous two years at Stanford, where he worked with both the quarterbacks and wide receivers. As a graduate assistant under interim head coach Frank Reich last season (2025), Sargent helped the Cardinal achieve their first year-over-year improvement since 2015 and their highest win total since 2020, following a 2024 season in which he contributed to Elic Ayomanor earning Stanford's first All-ACC recognition after posting 63 receptions and 831 receiving yards.

Prior to Stanford, Sargent spent five seasons at UCLA in a variety of offensive support roles, helping the Bruins achieve three winning seasons and earn Top 25 recognition each year. A UCLA graduate, Sargent makes the jump to the NFL after helping develop productive passing offenses at two prominent collegiate programs.

SAFETIES

RYAN SLOWIK returns to the Jets as safeties coach with nearly 20 years of NFL coaching experience and a diverse background coaching defensive backs, linebackers, and defensive linemen. During previous stops with the MIA, ARZ, CLV, and the Jets, Slowik helped develop multiple top-performing defenses, including Miami's top-10 unit in 2024 and a 2023 Dolphins defense that set a franchise record with 56.0 sacks, while also contributing to three playoff teams in Arizona and consecutive postseason appearances in Miami. In his first stint with the Jets in 2015, he was part of a defense that ranked second against the run and helped Muhammad Wilkerson earn his lone Pro Bowl selection after a career-high 12.0-sack season.

Slowik began his NFL career with Denver, helping the Broncos reach the AFC Championship Game in 2005, and comes from a distinguished football family that includes his father, former NFL defensive coordinator Bob Slowik, and his brother, Dolphins offensive coordinator Bobby Slowik.
